The image shows a smartphone screen displaying the Milan Medical Center app. At the top, there is a status bar with the time 12:42 and battery level 80%. The app header features the Milan Medical Center logo (a green circle with a white dot) and the text "Milan Medical Center". To the right of the logo is a hamburger menu icon. Below the header, the word "Specialties" is displayed in a large, bold, green font. A list of medical specialties follows, each on a new line with a horizontal dotted line underneath: ALLERGOLOGY, CARDIOLOGY, DENTISTRY (highlighted with a green background), DERMATOLOGY, ENDOCRINOLOGY, GASTROENTEROLOGY, GENERAL MEDICINE, GENERAL SURGERY, GYNAECOLOGY AND OBSTETRICS, NEUROLOGY, NUTRITIONAL SCIENCE, OPHTHALMOLOGY, ORTHODONTICS, ORTHOPAEDICS AND TRAUMATOLOGY, OTORHINOLARYNGOLOGY (ENT), PAEDIATRICS, PSYCHIATRY AND PSYCHOTHERAPY, and ULTRASOUND RADIOLOGY. At the bottom of the screen, there is a green section titled "Bookings" in a bold, black font. Below this title, the text "Information and appointments:" is followed by the email address "info@milanmedicalcenter.it". At the very bottom, there is a green bar containing a white telephone icon and the phone number "02 43 99 04 01".

section 3

1 Relative Pronouns and Clauses Pronomi e frasi relative

Non-defining clauses

Le Non-defining clauses danno informazioni accessorie che non influenzano il significato essenziale della frase. Queste frasi sono di solito poste tra due virgole.

- Which si riferisce ad animali o cose.
Turin, which is a city in the north of Italy, is famous for car manufacturing.
- Who si riferisce alle persone.
Charles Dickens, who was born in Portsmouth, wrote "Hard Times" and "Oliver Twist".
- Whom è il pronome oggetto di who.
Pavarotti, whom all the world admires, sang before a crowd of 100.000 people at Hyde Park last August.

Defining clauses

Le Defining clauses forniscono informazioni essenziali e non possono essere eliminate dalla frase. Non si usano le virgole nelle defining clauses.

- Which / that si riferiscono a cose.
The printer which / that you ordered last month will arrive tomorrow.
- Who / that si riferiscono alle persone.
This is the boy who / that is in the same class as me.
- Whom ha la funzione di complemento oggetto. È più formale di who ed è poco usato.
The woman whom you met is Miss Booking.
The boy whom you saw is Simon Stamp.

Your attention, please!

- Which, whom o that si possono omettere quando non sono il soggetto della frase.
That's the girl (whom / that) Jack knows.
That's the present (that / which) he gave me.
- Nel linguaggio informale le preposizioni vengono poste dopo il verbo. Il pronome relativo è omesso.
Those are the friends we go out with.
That's a poem I've never heard of.

- Where si riferisce ad un luogo e spesso sostituisce in which.
This is the room where we keep Dave's toys.
- Whose indica possesso e si riferisce sia a persone che a cose.
History Day, whose CD I bought yesterday, is an MTV tomorrow.

Don't get it wrong! Get it right!

The bike that I had it when I was ten was red.

The bike that I had when I was ten was red.

My sister, you'll meet later, is a nurse.

My sister, who you'll meet later, is a nurse.

Art direction, InDesign master pages and layout. Educational book.

Activities

1 Link the two sentences using who, whom, whose, which.

- This is Dr Bell. His son Lee came to visit me last year.
- These are the books. Sean took them to Tracy in hospital.
- Jane is a brilliant actress. You saw her yesterday.
- This is the book. Our teacher told us about it.
- That girl is in our class. She's Carol's cousin.
- Helga is a German teacher. She works in Austria now.

2 Insert the appropriate Relative Pronoun where necessary.

- James Fogherly is a very famous writer. _____ works are known all over the world.
- We were staying in a hotel. _____ overlooks Lake Garda.
- This is the best champagne. _____ I have ever drunk in my life.
- Dr Leg. _____ examined me, is a well-known orthopaedic surgeon.
- Those are the teachers with _____ I studied for my "A" levels.
- The University of York. _____ we did a Post-Graduate course, is the best of its kind.
- Are these the sunglasses _____ you were looking for?
- These are the floppy discs _____ Graham showed to the technician.

3 Decide if the relative clauses are defining (DE) or non-defining (NDE).

- Those glasses, which are on the desk, belong to Brian. ☐ DE ☐ NDE
- Here's the boy who won the tennis match. ☐ DE ☐ NDE
- The hotel we are staying at is one of the best in Torquay. ☐ DE ☐ NDE
- The red Ferrari, which is in front of my house, is my uncle's. ☐ DE ☐ NDE
- The news you read in the paper yesterday is not true. ☐ DE ☐ NDE
- I'm going to buy a new digital camera which costs $ 200. ☐ DE ☐ NDE
- The school from which he comes is a grammar school. ☐ DE ☐ NDE
- That was the best laugh I have ever had! ☐ DE ☐ NDE

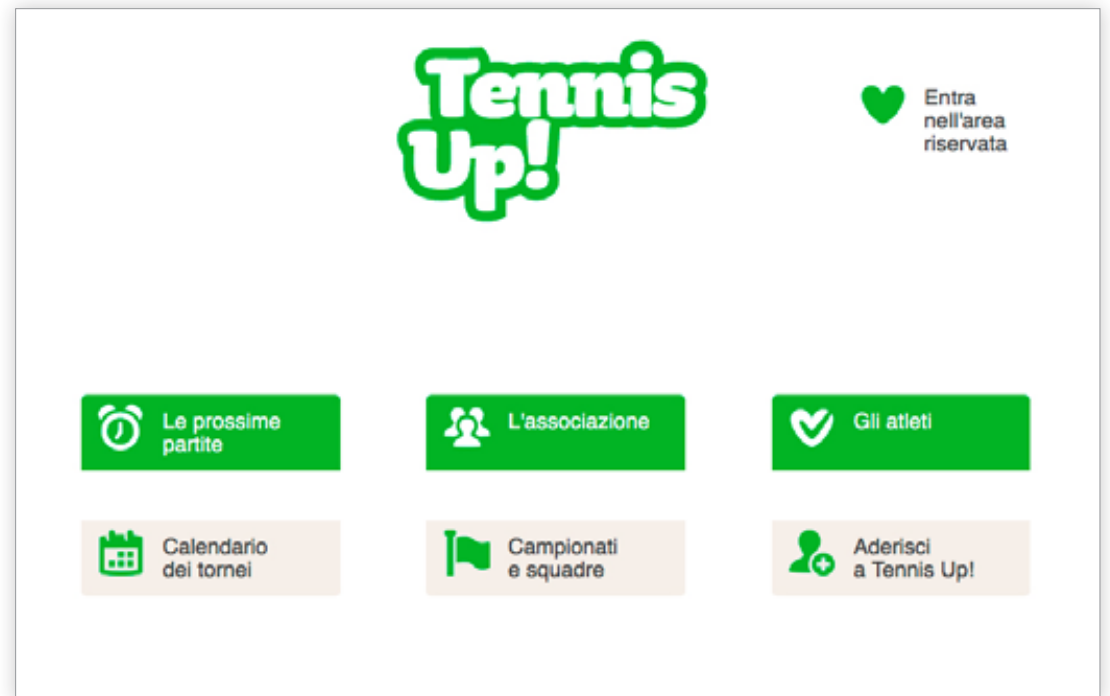

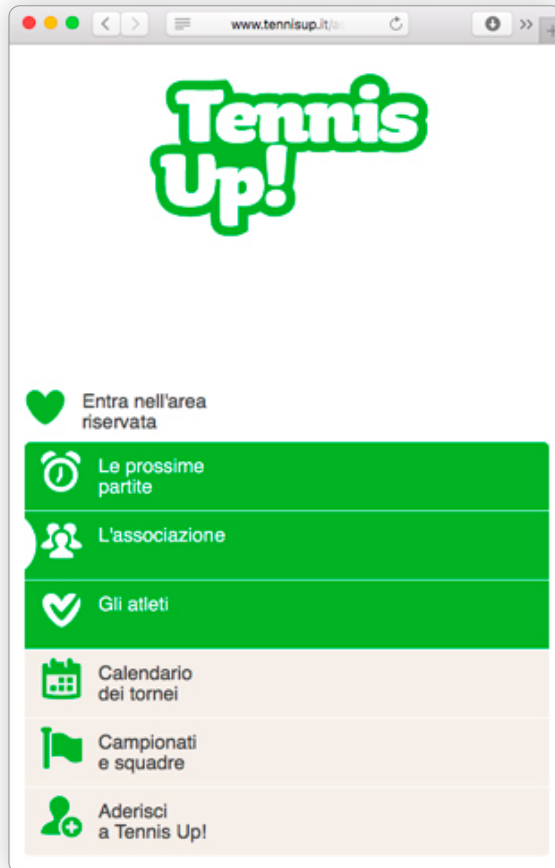

4 Translate into English.

- Ho un fratello che fa il Ds.
- Non mi piace il DVD player che hai comprato.
- La strada che porta in stazione è molto lunga.
- È quello il ragazzo che hai conosciuto al party?
- Mrs Cox, il cui figlio lavora all'estero, abita vicino a casa mia.
- È un famoso scrittore i cui libri sono venduti in tutto il mondo.
- La ragazza che hai visto in discoteca è mia sorella.
- Il telefonino che ho comprato costa € 125,00.
- Ho una sorella che fa l'infermiera.
- Ho un amico che lavora all'IBM.
